

BIOGRAPHY

HELPING PEOPLE CLOSE THE GAP BETWEEN DREAMING AND DOING.

As a teenager, she used her love of music as inspiration to go from sweeping garbage off Detroit music venue floors to hustling her way into the largest record label in the world — helping to launch some of today's biggest careers in music such as Taylor Swift, The Weeknd, and Rihanna.

Inspired by a viral video of a deaf woman hearing for the first time, she then founded the first ever social good electronics company (LSTN), sold millions of products, partnered with the likes of Google, Delta Air Lines, and Amazon, was interviewed by Today Show, GMA, and the New York Times, and traveled to 40 countries and all 50 U.S. states giving over 60,000 people the gift of hearing.

Now as co-author of the Experiential Billionaire book, presenter of the 1.5M-times-viewed TEDx The Keys to Living a Rich Life, and facilitator of a 20,000-person research study on goals and regrets, she has inspired millions to follow and achieve their dreams personally and professionally.

"What an amazing day spent with you, our team is still buzzing. We had strings of conversations going across business units for the following few days, where we were asking people to be vulnerable and share something they did that they had been needing to get done for a while. The comments were electrifying! I can't thank you enough for pushing us out of our comfort zone."

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, MICHIGAN COMMUNITY ACTION

"Let's be honest: For years, 'purpose' in the workplace was treated like the parsley garnish on a plate of KPIs. It was nice to look at, but not something anyone actually consumed. But according to Bridget Hilton, whose talk had the room leaning in, nodding, and maybe even tearing up a little, purpose isn't just a side dish; it's the secret sauce."
